

Claim 1 is directed to the treatment of a patient in which there are medical problems with the sensory and motor nerves which results in an ailment such as neuropathy and fibromyalgia. In order for the treatment to be effective, the composition utilized must contain Echinacea Augustifolia, a lymphatic stimulator, a mobilizer of white blood cell activity which is selected from the group consisting of Lachesis Ninta, Crotalis Horridus and Naja, and a vasodilator. The vasodilator is preferably the compound of claim 2 although there are vasodilators which are known in nature.

Accordingly it is the combination of components which are required to provide the desired effect of improving blood flow and delivering oxygen to the nerve cells before any of the secondary drugs can have an effect.

The species of part c are obvious variants and any plant vasodialator can be used in the claimed combination.

Action on the merits is now requested.
